

Supercharge your child's learning with fibre

The internet provides some fantastic learning opportunities for our children. But many online resources need a fairly quick and reliable connection.

Fibre broadband is now available to 95% of Dorset premises. It is much faster and more stable than standard broadband. Whatever you do online you can do it better with fibre broadband:

- Everyone in your home can be online at the same time
- Download and watch catch-up TV and films without annoying buffering
- Make video calls (Skype, FaceTime) to friends and family
- Work from home more easily

For your child's learning watching videos, playing educational games and downloading e-books is much easier with fibre broadband. Pupils commonly need to go online to access and complete homework once they reach secondary school.

And developing children's digital skills is critical. Technology is increasingly important in all aspects of life. Dorset is one of Europe's fastest growing digital and creative hubs, providing well-paid job opportunities in later life.

How do I get fibre broadband?

Your family will only benefit from the faster speeds and more stable connection if you contact an internet provider and ask to switch to fibre broadband.

Many people stick with a supplier for ease, but older packages can be more expensive and tend to have usage caps and slower speeds. In short, some are paying more for a worse service.
